Travel directions

Coming from Holiday Park De Bosrand, turn right and immediately left (GORTELSEWEG).

1. After 150m you will see two streams cross each other, the upper one (wets-east) runs straight through the village and is later called Dorpsche Beek, via the former paper factory Van Delden and further on De Industrie.

Follow the stream until it turns right, here you turn left (HATTUMSEWEG). At the end of the road, turn right, then a wooden bridge. Immediately cross over a bridge, straight ahead into the sandy path.

2. Here you will pass through several plots of forest that are clearly planted as 'production forests' and are maintained as such.

At the end of the road, turn left at the first wide sandy path. After 1 km at the fork, turn right (see the red-headed post), a little later on the heathland on the left. Cross the four-way junction, straight ahead. See in front of you a hill (Galgenberg).

3. This hill certainly had various functions in prehistoric times and afterwards.
4. Immediately after the hill you will see the first two burial mounds on the left, this place is located in the middle of a wide, elongated strip with dozens of burial mounds. You will see more further on.

Turn right at the T-junction, see a large moor in front of you on the left. At the end of the dirt road, cross the paved road (ATTENTION!!-Drive is fast!) into the Wildweg. At the place where the meadow approximately begins on the left, there is a memorial in the forest on the right.

5. Information about this historically important area on the memorial column. Incidentally, the aforementioned Celtic Fields are difficult to find for the untrained eye.

After you have viewed the column and the burial mounds, return to the dirt road (WILDWEG). Continue walking in an easterly direction, then take the first exit on the right (ISEENDOORNWEG).

Opposite this house, take the forest path, past the sign 'Gemeente Bosbedrijf'. Immediately after the sign keep to the right, follow the forest path paved with split. At the paved road (GORTELSEWEG) turn left.

6. After 150m you will see a former laundry on the left.

You continue on this road. At the end you are back at the Holiday Park.
